“Our almost 70 GMO online missionaries allow Forestville to minister to hungry people worldwide each and every day. Forestville families minister together, reaching out from their home computers, to the world that Jesus loves and died for....to people who are hungry and seeking Jesus. I truly believe that technology through computers and cell phones (and who knows what will come next) is the “front porch,” and the main and most effective entry point and communication port, to the people of this 21st century world. When people are asking you to come and visit them on their “front porch” seeking your help, rather than you asking them to allow you to visit them on their “porch,” it changes the paradigm of the entire relationship.”

“In difficult economic times, ministry partners must look for excellent Kingdom returns per dollar of contribution. Global Media Outreach offers you that kind of good stewardship opportunity.”
